

“Water Drop Falling Through Soap Bubble”

Shelby Cave, NCSSM '93

The water drop passed through this soap bubble, leaving the bubble intact but distorting its shape in the collision. The bubble was lit through a translucent panel from below. Brightly-colored interference fringes are visible. An inverted reflection of the bubble and drop is produced in the soapy liquid.